

I think the option of choosing channels "a la carte" would be a great improvement over the current situation. On a recent trip, I noticed that many hotels now offer a very restricted set of channels, which they have chosen (not my preferences). If the hotels can do that, why can't the individual family at home? Most of the additional channels I would really enjoy having are currently bundled with a lot of channels I have no interest in.